II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the Commission, FINRA included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. FINRA has prepared summaries, set forth in sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

Background

On July 30, 2021, the SEC issued an order approving proposed rule changes concerning firms with a significant history of misconduct.³ The new rules include new Rule 4111 (Restricted Firm Obligations), new Rule 9561 (Procedures for Regulating Activities Under Rule 4111), and amendments to Rule 9559 (Hearing Procedures for Expedited Proceedings Under the Rule 9550 Series).

Rule 4111 establishes an annual process to designate as "Restricted Firms" member firms that present a high degree of risk to the investing public, based on numeric thresholds of firm-level and individual-level disclosure events, and then impose on such firms a "Restricted Deposit

³ See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 92525 (July 30, 2021), 86 FR 42925 (August 5, 2021) (Order Approving File No. SR-FINRA-2020-041, as Modified by Amendment Nos. 1 and 2) ("SEC Order"); see also Securities Exchange Act Release No. 92525 (July 30, 2021), 86 FR 49589 (September 3, 2021) (Order Approving File No. SR-FINRA-2020-041) (Correction).

Requirement”⁴ or, in addition or in the alternative, conditions or restrictions on the member firm’s operations that are necessary or appropriate to protect investors and the public interest.⁵

Rule 4111 is designed to protect investors and the public interest by strengthening tools available to FINRA to address the risks posed by member firms with a significant history of misconduct.⁶ The rule will create incentives for firms to change behaviors and activities, either to avoid being designated or re-designated as a Restricted Firm, to mitigate FINRA’s concerns.⁷

New Rules 4111 and 9561, and the amendments to Rule 9559, were effective on January 1, 2022.⁸ FINRA explained in Regulatory Notice 21-34 that FINRA would announce, in a separate Regulatory Notice, the first Evaluation Date no less than 120 calendar days before the first Evaluation Date, and that FINRA expected that the first Evaluation Date would be mid-year 2022. On February 1, 2022, FINRA announced that the first Evaluation Date for Rule 4111 would be June 1, 2022.⁹

⁴ See Rule 4111(i)(15) (definition of “Restricted Deposit Requirement”). A firm subject to a Restricted Deposit Requirement will be required to establish a Restricted Deposit Account and deposit in that account cash or qualified securities with an aggregate value that is not less than the member’s Restricted Deposit Requirement. See Rule 4111(a); 4111(i)(14) (definition of “Restricted Deposit Account”).

⁵ See SEC Order, 86 FR 42925, 42932. Firms designated as Restricted Firms will have significantly higher levels of risk-related disclosures as compared to firms of similar sizes. See SEC Order, 86 FR 42925, 42926. There are numeric thresholds for seven firm-size categories, based on the number of Registered Persons In-Scope. See Rule 4111(i)(11); see also Rule 4111(i)(13) (definition of “Registered Persons In-Scope”).

⁶ See SEC Order, 86 FR 42925, 42926.

⁷ See SEC Order, 86 FR 42925, 42926, 42932.

⁸ See Regulatory Notice 21-34 (September 2021). On May 26, 2022, FINRA filed for immediate effectiveness a proposed rule change to make non-substantive and technical amendments to Rules 4111 and 9561. See SR-FINRA-2022-014 (Form 19b-4), available at <https://www.finra.org/sites/default/files/2022-05/sr-finra-2022-014.pdf>.

⁹ See Information Notice, February 1, 2022 (FINRA Announces Rule 4111 (Restricted Firm Obligations) Evaluation Date); see also Rule 4111(i)(5) (definition of “Evaluation Date”). As FINRA explained in that Information Notice, FINRA plans to actually perform the annual calculation at least 30 days after the June 1, 2022 Evaluation Date.

Proposed Amendments to Rule 8312

To enhance the investor-protection benefits of Rule 4111, FINRA is proposing rule changes to amend Rule 8312 (FINRA BrokerCheck Disclosure) to release information on BrokerCheck as to whether a particular member firm or former member firm is currently designated as a Restricted Firm pursuant to Rules 4111 and 9561.¹⁰

Rule 8312 governs the information FINRA releases to the public through its BrokerCheck system.¹¹ BrokerCheck helps investors make informed choices about the brokers and member firms with which they conduct business by providing registration and disciplinary history to investors at no charge. FINRA requires member firms to inform their customers of the availability of BrokerCheck.¹²

Information that is released on BrokerCheck includes, among other things, information reported on the most recently filed “Registration Forms” (with limited exceptions) for both firms and registered individuals, and summary information about certain arbitration awards against a firm involving a securities or commodities dispute with a public customer.¹³ To provide ¹⁰ In the rulemaking that approved the new rules concerning firms with a significant history of misconduct, FINRA committed to file this proposed rule change to Rule 8312. See Letter from Michael Garawski, Associate General Counsel, FINRA, to Vanessa Countryman, Secretary, SEC, dated July 20, 2021, at p. 3, (“July 2021 FINRA Response to Comments”).

¹¹ The BrokerCheck website address is brokercheck.finra.org.

¹² See Rule 2210(d)(8) (requiring that each of a member’s websites include a readily apparent reference and hyperlink to BrokerCheck on the initial webpage that the member intends to be viewed by retail investors and any other webpage that includes a professional profile of one or more registered persons who conduct business with retail investors); Rule 2267 (requiring members to provide to customers the FINRA BrokerCheck Hotline Number and a statement as to the availability to the customer of an investor brochure that includes information describing BrokerCheck).

enhanced disclosure to the public, FINRA is proposing to amend Rule 8312 to release information on BrokerCheck as to whether a particular member firm or former member firm is currently designated as a “Restricted Firm” pursuant to Rules 4111 and 9561. As explained above, Rule 4111 will be an important new tool to identify and respond to firms that present a high degree of risk to investors. Disclosing on BrokerCheck the firms that are designated as Restricted Firms would provide material information to investors concerning the identity of firms that FINRA has determined pose far higher risks to the public than firms of similar size.¹⁴

If the proposed rule change is approved, information that a firm is a Restricted Firm would display on BrokerCheck while that firm is designated as a Restricted Firm. This would include while a Rule 9561 expedited proceeding to review a Department of Member Regulation (“Department”) decision is pending, because a Department decision that designates a firm as a Restricted Firm will not be stayed during a Rule 9561 expedited proceeding.¹⁵ When a firm is not designated, or is no longer designated, as a Restricted Firm, no historical information would be displayed on BrokerCheck that the firm was a Restricted Firm.

For example:

- If FINRA designates a firm as a Restricted Firm in Year 1 but does not re-designate the firm as a Restricted Firm in Year 2, the Restricted Firm status would display in BrokerCheck beginning from the date in Year 1 when the Department designated the firm as a Restricted Firm to the date in Year 2 when the firm is no longer designated as a Restricted Firm.

¹⁵ See Rule 9561(a)(4) (Effectiveness of the Rule 4111 Requirements).

- If a firm is designated as a Restricted Firm in Year 1 and subsequently in Year 1 withdraws from FINRA membership and becomes a former member firm,¹⁶ the Restricted Firm status would continue to display in BrokerCheck until the date in Year 2 when the firm is no longer designated as a Restricted Firm (i.e., when the annual calculation of the “Preliminary Criteria for Identification”¹⁷ for member firms occurs), even though the firm had withdrawn from FINRA membership before that date.¹⁸

Information that a firm is currently a Restricted Firm would be displayed in BrokerCheck on both a firm’s summary report and detailed report. Specifically, those reports would include the text, “This firm is currently designated as a Restricted Firm pursuant to FINRA Rule 4111 (Restricted Firm Obligations),” in a color or font that is prominent. The alert also would include the text “Click here for more information,” with a hyperlink to a page on FINRA’s website that provides for the investing public a clear explanation of Rule 4111 and what it means to be a Restricted Firm.¹⁹ FINRA believes that releasing information on BrokerCheck as to whether a ¹⁶ See Rule 4111(i)(7) (definition of “Former Member”).

¹⁷ See Rule 4111(i)(9) (definition of “Preliminary Criteria for Identification”).

¹⁸ FINRA believes that disclosing on BrokerCheck the former members that are currently designated as Restricted Firms would provide valuable information to investors and third parties. A former member that is currently designated as a Restricted Firm was a member at the time it was designated as a Restricted Firm, and it remains designated as a Restricted Firm until the date when the next annual calculation of the Preliminary Criteria for Identification for member firms occurs. During the period when a former member remains designated as a Restricted Firm, it continues to be subject to the obligations imposed on it pursuant to Rule 4111 and to a presumption that any application it files to withdraw all or any portion of its Restricted Deposit Requirement should be denied. See Rule 4111(f)(1), (3). Disclosure on BrokerCheck of information for a firm that was designated as a Restricted Firm and became a former member in the same year also could be information that investors consider when weighing their options in active or contemplated arbitration claims against former members. See Regulatory Notice 20-11 (April 2020).

particular member firm or former member firm is currently designated as a Restricted Firm would help inform investors of firms that may pose outlier-level risks compared to firms of similar sizes, which may incent investors to research more carefully the background of the firm. FINRA also believes that the public disclosure of the firms currently designated as Restricted Firms would create additional incentives for firms with a significant history of misconduct to change behaviors and activities to reduce risk.

If the proposed rule change is approved, FINRA expects that the effective date of the proposed rule change would be a date after FINRA completes the first annual Rule 4111 cycle, but no later than the Evaluation Date for the second annual Rule 4111 cycle. After the effective date, FINRA would make the relevant disclosures on BrokerCheck beginning with the firms that are designated or re-designated as Restricted Firms in the second annual Rule 4111 cycle. This would allow FINRA to gain meaningful experience with new Rule 4111, including any operational shortcomings, before FINRA begins disclosing Restricted Firms on BrokerCheck.²⁰

If the Commission approves the proposed rule change, FINRA will announce the effective date of the proposed rule change in a Regulatory Notice following Commission approval.

2. Statutory Basis

²⁰ Information that a firm is currently designated as a Restricted Firm would not be made available on BrokerCheck prior to the effective date of the proposed rule change, and information about the obligations to which a Restricted Firm is subject would not be made available on BrokerCheck. FINRA recognizes that information about a firm's Restricted Firm designation and the obligations imposed on it would be important to state securities regulators, both before and after the effective date of the proposed rule change. FINRA reiterates its commitment to working with individual state securities regulators to share information concerning whether firms that operate in their individual states have been designated by FINRA as Restricted Firms, along with information concerning any obligations that have been imposed pursuant to Rules 4111 and 9561 on the Restricted Firm. See July 2021 FINRA Response to Comments, supra note 10, at p. 3.

FINRA believes that the proposed rule change is consistent with the provisions of Section 15A(b)(6) of the Act,²¹ which requires, among other things, that FINRA rules must be designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and, in general, to protect investors and the public interest, and Section 15A(i)(1) of the Act,²² which requires that FINRA establish and maintain a toll-free telephone listing, and a readily accessible electronic or other process, to receive and promptly respond to inquiries regarding, registration information on its members and their associated persons, and to adopt rules governing the process for making inquiries and the type, scope, and presentation of information to be provided in response to such inquiries. Publicly disclosing through BrokerCheck information concerning the current status of a member firm as a Restricted Firm would inform more investors of which firms pose high risks to the investing public, compared to firms of similar sizes, and thereby incent investors to research carefully the background of the firm and may also act to incentivize firms with a significant history of misconduct to change behaviors and activities to reduce risk.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

FINRA does not believe that the proposed rule change will result in any burden on competition that is not necessary or appropriate in furtherance of the purposes of the Act.

Economic Impact Assessment

FINRA has undertaken an economic impact assessment, as set forth below, to analyze the regulatory need for the proposed rule change, its potential economic impacts, including anticipated benefits and costs, and the alternatives FINRA considered in assessing how to best meet its regulatory objectives.

1. Regulatory Need

²¹ 15 U.S.C. 78o-3(b)(6).

²² 15 U.S.C. 78o-3(i)(1).

Rule 4111 identifies member firms that present a high degree of risk to the investing public and allows FINRA to impose on such firms a Restricted Deposit Requirement and, in addition or in the alternative, other conditions or restrictions on firms' operations. FINRA anticipates that investors may benefit from the public disclosure of information that a firm is a "Restricted Firm," both in how it would help investors decide whether to use a firm and its registered representatives for brokerage services, and in how it would make stronger the incentives for a firm to improve its supervisory and compliance practices. The proposed amendments to Rule 8312 would provide this information to investors through BrokerCheck.

2. Economic Baseline

The economic baseline for the proposed rule change is the current regulatory framework and Rule 4111 (which was approved by the SEC on July 30, 2021, and was effective on January 1, 2022), the information currently available on BrokerCheck, and current investor utilization of BrokerCheck.²³ Rule 4111 creates a multi-step process for FINRA's determination of whether a member firm should be designated as a Restricted Firm. The first step in the process is an annual calculation to determine whether a member firm meets the Preliminary Criteria for Identification.²⁴ Only some of the firms that meet the Preliminary Criteria for Identification will be designated as Restricted Firms at the end of the multi-step process.²⁵

²³ This analysis uses a baseline inclusive of Rule 4111 for clarity and simplicity. The expected impacts of Rule 4111 were considered in detail in SR-FINRA-2020-041. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 90527 (November 27, 2020), 85 FR 78540, 78551-54 (December 4, 2020) (Notice of Filing of File No. SR-FINRA-2020-041) ("Filing").

The proposed amendments to Rule 8312 are expected to affect users of BrokerCheck, currently and formerly registered firms, and, indirectly, the individuals associated with those firms. Users of BrokerCheck include, among others, investors, member firms and other entities in the financial services industry, regulators, and individuals registered as brokers or seeking employment in the brokerage industry. The information about firms currently available to investors through BrokerCheck is derived from the Registration Forms and the disclosures required thereunder, and includes a description of where and when the firm was established, people and entities that own controlling shares or directly influence the firm's daily operations, a firm's history that details mergers, acquisitions or name changes affecting the firm, the firm's active licenses and registrations, the types of businesses it conducts, information about arbitration awards and disciplinary matters, and information as to whether a particular member is subject to the provisions of the Taping Rule, among other information and disclosures.²⁶ In 2020, BrokerCheck helped users conduct almost 38 million searches of firms and individual brokers. Information available on BrokerCheck may reach investors through additional channels, because the data may be copied and compiled through data gathering or extraction tools, subject to applicable terms of use.²⁷

3. Economic Impacts

the Preliminary Criteria for Identification had it existed at the time has trended down since 2014, when 75 small firms (2% of all small member firms), four mid-size firms (1.9% of all mid-size member firms) and one large firm (0.6% of all large member firms) would have met the Preliminary Criteria for Identification. FINRA defines a small firm as a member with at least one and no more than 150 registered persons, a mid-size firm as a member with at least 151 and no more than 499 registered persons, and a large firm as a member with 500 or more registered persons. See FINRA By-Laws, Article I.

²⁶ See About BrokerCheck, <https://www.finra.org/investors/learn-to-invest/choosing-investment-professional/about-brokercheck>; Rule 8312.

²⁷ See Section 5 of the FINRA BrokerCheck Terms of Use, <https://brokercheck.finra.org/terms>.

The proposed amendments to Rule 8312 would disclose in BrokerCheck a firm's designation as a Restricted Firm for the duration of that designation. As noted above, the potential benefits to investors need not be limited to individuals who consult BrokerCheck, because third parties may harvest and compile the information and make it available through other outlets, subject to applicable terms of use.

The disclosure on BrokerCheck of firms' Restricted Firm designations may benefit investors. Currently, BrokerCheck already displays disclosures reported on the most recently filed Registration Forms for both firms and registered individuals, as well as summary information about certain arbitration awards against firms involving a securities or commodities dispute with a public customer. However, with the proposed additional disclosure of a firm's designation as a Restricted Firm, investors might be prompted to learn more about such Restricted Firms, engage with them more cautiously, or—for investors currently using the services of Restricted Firms—critically review their experiences with these firms. As discussed at length in SR-FINRA-2020-041, FINRA's analysis indicated that firms that would have met the Preliminary Criteria for Identification during the 2013-2017 review period had on average 6-20 times more new "Registered Person and Member Firm Events"²⁸ after their identification than other firms of the same size category.²⁹ The disclosure on BrokerCheck of a firm's Restricted Firm designation and the resulting additional investor caution may help some investors avoid the harms associated with future misconduct. Although the magnitude of these effects is not known, ²⁸ See Rule 4111(i)(12) (defining "Registered Person and Member Firm Events" to include "Registered Person Adjudicated Events," "Registered Person Pending Events," "Registered Person Termination and Internal Review Events," "Member Firm Adjudicated Events," and "Member Firm Pending Events," all of which are defined in Rule 4111(i)(4)).

they would supplement the protective effects of the obligations imposed by FINRA on the designated Restricted Firms.³⁰ The anticipated benefits to investors of the proposed amendments would increase with the likelihood that potential or actual customers of a designated Restricted Firm seek or learn information in BrokerCheck about a firm's Restricted Firm designation and consider it in their research on the background of a firm.

The disclosure on BrokerCheck of firms' Restricted Firm designations and additional investor caution may have a range of effects on such firms. Designated Restricted Firms may respond by offering more competitive pricing or improved customer service. Designated Restricted Firms may also act to improve internal controls in order to avoid additional reputational harm and being re-designated as a Restricted Firm in subsequent years. However, additional investor caution, if significant enough, may cause financial distress at some firms. Disclosing a firm's Restricted Firm designation on BrokerCheck may lead investors to review their engagement with the firm more critically and, therefore, also may potentially lead to increased customer complaints, arbitration cases and possible awards against, and settlements by, such firms. In addition, as noted in SR-FINRA-2020-041, Restricted Firms may have greater difficulty or increased costs associated with maintaining a clearing arrangement, loss of trading partners, or similar impairments where third parties can determine that a firm meets the Preliminary Criteria for Identification or has been deemed to be a Restricted Firm.³¹ While some third parties like clearing firms may require a firm to disclose Restricted Firm status during private contract negotiations, other third-party firms may learn of a firm's Restricted Firm designation only after the information is disclosed publicly. These third-party firms may then anticipate an increase in legal and contingent costs through the potential liabilities that they face through their business relationships with a Restricted Firm. As a result, Restricted Firms may find that costs of these third-party agreements increase and potentially lose access to such providers. While the magnitude of these reactions from investors and third parties cannot be quantified, it is possible that the disclosure of the designation as a Restricted Firm may result in some firms going out of business.

4. Alternatives Considered

FINRA recognizes that the design and implementation of the rule proposals may impose direct and indirect costs on a variety of stakeholders, including firms, brokers, regulators, investors and the public. Accordingly, in developing its rule proposals, FINRA seeks to identify ways to enhance the efficiency and effectiveness of the proposed rules while maintaining their regulatory objectives.

In developing the proposal, FINRA considered two different alternatives for when to begin releasing information on BrokerCheck as to whether a particular member firm or former member firm is currently designated as a Restricted Firm. Specifically, FINRA considered whether to begin releasing this information on BrokerCheck during the first annual Rule 4111 cycle or, instead, the second annual Rule 4111 cycle. FINRA has proposed to start this disclosure in the second annual Rule 4111 cycle, and not sooner, because it would allow FINRA and member firms to gain meaningful experience with new Rule 4111, including any operational shortcomings, before FINRA begins disclosing Restricted Firms on BrokerCheck.
